Paragraph Temperature Is Checked at Narrows

When Jules Verne sent his character around the world in 80 days it was fiction, but last week a Belgian named Pierre Thonon finished the same trip in just 5 minutes short of 76 hours — making fact more astounding than fiction.

I see by Louis Graves' Nashville News that a Howard county man, Harold McMullan, and some others have beaten me to a project I have long had in mind—measuring the temperature of the water at various depths in Narrows Lake.

Many of you will remember the first drowning in the Narrows. Charley Wilson had opened the Swaha Lodge before the accident, and Charley being an old laboratory hand had some knowledge of how cold the bottom waters of the Narrows would be even in mid-Summer. He said recovery of the body would be difficult because the 100-foot-plus depths made the Narrows a vast refrigerator. Mr. Wilson was right. The Navy sent divers in an attempt to locate the body. They failed, but did report that in mid-Summer the water at the bottom of the lake was 42 degrees. Nine days after the accident the body finally surfaced.

With plenty of laboratory thermometers around The Star, because of its photographic operations, I planned some day to make a series of checks on the lake—all because of those navy divers' report back in the early 1930s. But you never get around to accomplishing a fraction of the projects that imagination stirs up.

Now the Howard county fact-finders have gotten the figures on the Narrows.

I quote Louis Graves' Facts & Fancies column of Oct. 13:

Surface Water is cooling these early Fall days, but down at 100-foot depths at Lake Narrows the reading is 81 degrees. Harold McMullan and other fishermen took readings at depths from 10 to 100 feet near the dam site recently and here's what they found:

Depth	Temperature
10 feet	77 degrees
20 feet	77 degrees
30 feet	77 degrees
40 feet	73 degrees
50 feet	67 degrees
60 feet	65 degrees
70 feet	63 degrees
80 feet	62 degrees
90 feet	62 degrees
100 feet	61 degrees

We surmise the bass fishermen will be going down to about 40 to 50 feet for 65-degree water, which we hear is the favorable depth for that game fish.

Nixon visits POW families

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon made an unexpected appearance today before a gathering of wives and families of U.S. prisoners of war and missing in action. He promised them he "will never let you down," in efforts to obtain release of the men and declared draft dodgers and deserters "will pay a price" for their actions.

"It would be the most immoral thing I could think of to give amnesty to draft dodgers and those who deserted," Nixon told his cheering audience.

He made an unannounced visit to the meeting of the annual convention of the League of Families of POWs-MIAs where about 1,500 delegates jammed a hotel ballroom.

In Philippines:

Assassination rumor sparks mass arrests

MANILA (AP) — The Philippine armed forces arrested an undetermined number of men and confiscated sophisticated sniper equipment and explosives in raids in the greater Manila area, Information Secretary Francisco S. Tatad said today.

The raids followed reports that dissident suicide squads were in the city to assassinate President Ferdinand E. Marcos.

No further details were available, Tatad told newsmen.

Earlier, Marcos told municipal police chiefs and executives to uphold the law with courtesy and absolute fairness because the Philippines' fight against what he called a Communist rebellion may well be won or lost "in the hearts and minds of the people."

The president, who proclaimed martial law almost a month ago "to save this republic" from communist forces "and form a new society," spoke to 1,500 police chiefs and other local officials at the presidential palace.

He said the law must be upheld without exceptions. If law enforcers are unfair and abusive in performing their duties, the people will lose trust and confidence in the government, Marcos told the police officials.

He asked them to cooperate in establishing a new society by giving top priority to the following basic reforms:

—Promote and maintain peace and order by breaking up criminal syndicates, especially smuggling and narcotics trafficking.

—Restore the respect of the people for law by being courteous and righteous.

Marcos allowed the opening of a new English-language daily newspaper called the Times Journal to be run by former staff members of various major newspapers shut down after the imposition of martial law.

He authorized the release of seven newsmen in Naga City, 170 miles southwest of Manila. They had been detained under martial law.

Defense Secretary Juan Ponce Enrile announced that a commander of the insurgent New People's Army for northern Mindanao had been killed, and a top recruiter had been captured by government troops in Mindanao. This brought to 16 the total number of dissidents killed and to 266 the number captured or surrendered since the imposition of martial law Sept. 23.

Plane crash is fatal to 176

MOSCOW (AP) — In the worst civil air disaster in history, 176 persons were killed when a Russian jetliner crashed Friday night while trying to land in bad weather at Moscow's international airport, a reliable Soviet source reported.

A day later, a British jetliner turned back from the same airport because the instrument landing system on the ground was not working, a British European Airways spokesman said in London.

Foreign embassies in Moscow said they were told 38 Chilean tourists, five Algerians, a Frenchman and a Briton were aboard the Russian plane. The American Embassy was not notified that any U.S. citizens were involved.

The source who reported the crash gave this account:

Coming from Leningrad, the Ilyushin-62 made three landing passes over Sheremetyevo airport. It was raining and the visibility was poor.

On the fourth try, the big jet plowed into the ground and exploded in a section of rolling hills and woods three miles from the runway.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, reported on Saturday that an airliner en route from Leningrad to Moscow had crashed near the airport but did not specify that it was a Soviet plane. It reported all aboard were killed but did not give the number.

The Ilyushin-62 is a four-engine jet and the largest plane operated by the Soviet airline. It began flying international routes about five years ago.

Shot is fatal to Hope woman

Hempstead County Sheriff Henry Sinyard said today that Mrs. Guy Chism of Hope was fatally shot in the chest with a .410-gauge shotgun about 8:30 this morning.

Sinyard said the gunshot wound was self-inflicted.

Funeral arrangements are pending.

Congress goes into overtime

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress went into overtime today with members, itching to hit the hustings, facing the possibility of long debates over two of the biggest bills of the dying session.

Senate Democratic Whip Robert Byrd of West Virginia predicted lengthy debate on the compromise versions of the Social Security bill and one giving President Nixon extraordinary powers to cut spending.

Both houses had set their sights on adjourning last Saturday. But the Senate had to carry over business to today and the House is to return Tuesday after frantic but futile efforts to finish their business in sessions that lasted until early Sunday.

Conferees sent to the two chambers for action a compromise version of the Social Security bill, stripped of all welfare reform but expanding some benefits and increasing payroll taxes to pay for them.

The payroll-tax boost provided by the bill would mean that a person earning $10,000 in 1973 would have to pay $631.80 instead of the $468 maximum withheld this year.

The bill also would:

—Raise from $1,680 to $2,100 the amount a retired person could earn without reducing Social Security benefits.

—Set a new $170-a-month minimum for persons who worked as long as 30 years in covered employment.

—Slightly increase benefits for men by extending to them an unintended advantage wo-

Amtrak-for-Arkansas bill sent to Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill that provides $4.1 million for Amtrak passenger train service to Arkansas was given final congressional approval Saturday and sent to the President.

The bill also contains for acquisition of Cache River wetlands and planning of a Lake Norfork bridge.

Amtrak would run its trains from St. Louis through Little Rock and Texarkana to Dallas and on to Mexico. It would be one of two international rail passenger routes authorized by Congress. The other would link the system to Canada.

Arkansas was without rail passenger service for more than a year. It was one of four states not served by Amtrak.

Amtrak officials say they are reluctant to add routes because the passenger line is struggling to reach the fiscal balance after accumulating a $146 million deficit in its first year of operation.

The supplemental appropriation bill approved Saturday also provide $2 million to initiate the acquisition of wildlife mitigation areas in the Cache River Basin.

The Army Corps of Engineers, in charge of a project to channelize the river, will use the money to acquire land through purchase and easement.

The federal government will initially attempt to obtain at least 40,000 acres. The state may then split the cost acquiring additional easements with the Army Engineers.

The $100,000 allocated for the bridge at Lake Norfork in North Arkansas will be used for preconstruction planning. The bridge will be built by the Engineers and maintained by the state. It will cost about $14 million and will be primarily financed with federal funds.

med today under provisions for calculating their old-age insurance payments.

—Raise widows' payments to 100 per cent of their husbands' basic entitlement.

—Extend Medicare to persons retired for disability as well as for age, and federalize programs for about 3 million aged, blind and disabled persons.

Conferees also agreed to put substantial limitations on sweeping powers which the House voted to give Nixon to enforce a $250-billion ceiling on government spending for the fiscal year ending next June 30.

Under the compromise, Social Security and other retirement payments, veterans' benefits, judges' salaries and several other items would be exempt from cuts.

The bill would permit reductions up to 20 per cent in 50 categories of programs. It would allow funds for specific programs within a category to be deleted entirely.

Although administration spokesmen indicated dissatisfaction with the compromise, a presidential veto was seen as unlikely since the bill also contains a $15-billion increase in Treasury borrowing authority that is deemed essential.

Mudslide victims digging out

BIG SUR, Calif. (AP) — Residents made homeless by mudslides at Big Sur, and merchants whose shops lay buried in up to five feet of mud contemplated a massive cleanup today after a week of often torrential rain finally eased off.

Late Sunday afternoon Coast Highway 1, which winds through Big Sur on the edge of the Pacific was reopened to all traffic after emergency road crews cleared off tons of the oozing mud.

Some 300 persons were reported to have fled their homes. The Monterey County sheriff's office said a dozen houses were inundated in mudslides pouring down rain-battered mountainsides, and 13 others were abandoned because water was contaminated and power and telephone service cut.

Damage has been estimated at more than $500,000. No injuries were reported.

The area hit was approximately three miles long in the north-central sector of the scenic Big Sur district, which starts about 25 miles south of Monterey.

Most of the refugees left their homes late Friday or Saturday, staying with friends or at inns that opened their doors to meet the crisis.

Early Sunday, under renewed downpours a wall of mud six feet high and 40 feet wide dropped down from the mountains at the Big Sur Lodge. The goo oozed down the road and seeped into the lodge, which had been cleaned more than once from previous invasions.

"It came by for 35 minutes just like a brown troop train—trees, rocks, debris floating by," said Einar Morness, reservations clerk at the lodge.

At Big Sur Village, about two miles from the lodge, mud stood four and five feet deep in the rustic shops that serve the usually colorful small population and yearly trek of tourists.

Authorities never issued an order to evacuate the area, but at Ft. Ord 40 miles north Medi-vac teams and helicopters stood by for that purpose.

Trailer homes were jammed against each other. One trailer floated away in the mud. In at least one case a store's merchandise was shoved outside by the mud river.

Patman says Americans want facts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wright Patman, chairman of the House Banking Committee, says Americans are "screaming out" to demand the facts in the break-in and alleged bugging of Democratic National headquarters here.

Patman said Sunday his committee has documents which show that Nixon campaign funds were used to buy electronic equipment from James W. McCord, one of five men arrested inside the Democratic offices on June 17.

He said the equipment was described as "audio-counter-measures radio receiver and alarm." He added: "My understanding is that it's a bugging device." But he acknowledged he didn't know to what use the equipment was put.

The Texas Democrat said he has not given up on hopes for the banking committee to conduct a full investigation of the case, even though a majority of the committee has disapproved such a probe.

"The American people are screaming out, 'We want the facts, we want them before the election,'" Patman said in an appearance on the CBS TV-radio program "Face the Nation."

Catholics are slain in Ireland

BELFAST (AP) — Gunmen killed three Roman Catholics in Belfast during the weekend, and militant Protestants vowed they would prevent local elections from being held in Northern Ireland in December.

The deaths brought Northern Ireland's confirmed fatality toll to 606 in more than three years of communal violence. Security forces believed the weekend's victims were killed by murder squads thought to be responsible for 63 unsolved killings since July.

Two of the men were serving customers in a liquor store Saturday night when two hooded gunmen burst in and opened fire on them. Two other men were seriously wounded. Another man was found shot.

Symbolizing change in the Peace Corps

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ljubomir Ivanovich and Beth McCammon are from different worlds, different generations. But they have one thing in common: Both are members of the Peace Corps in the small, developing West African nation of Dahomey.

In a sense, they symbolize the change that has come over the Peace Corps in the second half of its nearly 11-year-old history of volunteer service in foreign countries. The emphasis on recruiting has shifted from the liberal arts-educated teacher to the skilled worker.

Ivanovich, a 60-year-old native of Yugoslavia who became an American citizen six years ago, is a supervisor of heavy equipment for the massive Lower Oueme River Valley development project in southern Dahomey.

Ivanovich and his wife, Stefanie, 57, also teach—he, English and she, cooking.

On the other hand, Miss McCammon, a 26-year-old native of the Los Angeles suburb of Hawthorne, has followed her love for animals and the countryside into the Peace Corps. She is setting up an experimental animal-husbandry project in the same lush, tropical valley as Ivanovich where a large-scale development program initiated by the United Nations' Food and Agricultural Organization is under way.

Unlike Ivanovich, who learned his profession on the job in Venezuela where he went after World War II, Miss McCammon first tried raising a steer and sheep in a high school animal-husbandry course, and continued in the field through seven years and two degrees from the University of California at Davis.

McGovern trying to sway Texans

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. George McGovern today makes for his fourth post-convention campaign trip to Texas, still hoping to match Hubert H. Humphrey's 1968 feat of winning the biggest of the 11 states of the Old Confederacy.

Despite polls showing President Nixon well ahead for the 26 Texas electoral votes, McGovern's strategists say that record black and Chicano registration, and an all-out effort by labor leaders in a flight back to the Democratic party may be able to turn the tide in the three weeks remaining before the Nov. 7 election.

During his 24-hour stay, McGovern plans to address the Texas Legislature in Austin, and speak at rallies in Houston and San Antonio today and in Fort Worth Tuesday.

Before leaving for Austin, the Democratic nominee scheduled an appearance with two labor unions supporting his candidacy, the United Auto Workers and the International Association of Machinists, to plug his proposal for converting defense and aerospace plants to civilian pursuits.

McGovern spent some time Sunday relaxing at the Beverly Hills home of actress Shirley MacLaine, one of his Hollywood supporters. He worked on a speech covering tax and economic policy that he plans to tape in Washington Tuesday for showing on a paid nationwide telecast Friday night.

McGovern-camp theorists were buoyed by the size and response of the crowds at a series of weekend rallies in San Francisco, San Diego and Los Angeles.

"We're very much heartened by the way the campaign is progressing the past few days," McGovern told a San Diego news conference Saturday afternoon adding that he thought more older people were turning out than had been earlier in the campaign. The California rallies were on the heels of what aides described as big turnouts in the Midwest.

McGovern's Texas trip will concentrate on seeking to convince Democrats who have been cool to his candidacy that they should support their party and its nominee. This argument is also being made by Texas Democratic senatorial nominee Baret Sanders, now given a good chance of unseating Republican Sen. John G. Tower.

A number of other state officials, including some running for election Nov. 7, are openly supporting McGovern. The man they would really like to see appear with him in person is former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

However, McGovern aides say Johnson's health still won't permit public campaign appearances although they expect the nominee to speak with the former president by phone.

'Saint' is paid homage

AUSCHWITZ, Poland (AP) — "I never even had a chance to thank him. You were not allowed to utter a word. I tried to thank him with my eyes."

That was how Franciszek Gajowniczek described his farewell to the Rev. Maximilian Kolbe, the "Saint of Auschwitz" who gave up his life for the Polish army sergeant in 1941.

Gajowniczek and more than 150,000 others came to this former Nazi death factory Sunday to pay homage to the priest on the first anniversary of his beatification by Pope Paul VI.

Consumer Protection.

We've been advocating it for Arkansans for over 24 years.

From the day we opened our doors, we have represented the consumer in matters relating to health care costs. Our unwavering goal through the years has been to provide the greatest value for the dues our members pay. Have we succeeded? Last year we paid 93.4% of every dues dollar we received for health care services provided to our members.

In the operation of our Plans we are ever-conscious of cost containment. We work with the providers of health care to make sure only needed and necessary charges are made to our members. And we attempt, through utilization review, to make certain that unnecessary health care services are not incurred.

Don't think you're alone in the struggle against high health care costs. We're on your side. Because at Blue Cross and Blue Shield we think helping you get the most for your health care dollar is one of our most important jobs.

To taste like Mom's cooking

ASTRONAUT CHARLES "PETE" CONRAD (center) and Dr. Joseph Kerwin sample food prepared by Whirlpool Corporation in the wardrobe of the orbital workshop, the major component of the Skylab. Conrad and Kerwin are among a number of astronauts who are participating in the crew station review of Skylab foods.

BENTON HARBOR, MICH.—When it's chow time on Skylab, astronauts who will be spending four to eight weeks in earth orbit, will have a menu which is as close to "home cooking" as modern food technology can make it.

Whirlpool Corporation, under contract to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, has developed a food system which will compensate as nearly as possible for the astronauts' long absence from the warmth and delight of home cooked meals.

Dr. Norman Roth, director of Whirlpool's Life Support Systems Division, said, "For the first time, a diet will be provided (for astronauts) which is conventional in appearance, superb in taste and, yet, satisfies the rigorous nutritional requirements of space flight."

The food system is so designed that the Skylab crews will have a relatively wide range of selection from a set of conventional food items, while still rigidly adhering to the "experimental requirements."

For the first time, astronauts will prepare their meals from an assortment of frozen as well as conventional space foods similar to those carried on manned Gemini and Apollo missions.

Astronauts will prepare their own meals on a special food tray with heated compartments which conform to the food containers. The tray also keeps the containers from floating around in zero gravity.

Frozen foods will be stored in a freezer in the Skylab orbital workshop.

In addition to being the tastiest menu carried into space thus far, the Skylab food system is designed to meet the requirements and objectives of an important series of medical investigations.

Dr. Malcolm C. Smith, chief of food nutrition at the NASA Manned Spacecraft Center, explained that the medical investigations are profoundly influenced by the nature and amount of food that the astronauts consume.

The Skylab food system will maintain a caloric level between 2,000 to 2,800 calories per day. More than 70 different food items are now under consideration for use during Skylab missions. The final menu selection will be made by each crew member.

Celebrates birthday

Karen Lynn Teague celebrated her 8th birthday on October 11 with a party in her home. Her mother, Mrs. Bobby Teague, had decorated the patio with balloons, and that is where the 30 guests assembled for the party.

Cold drinks, potato chips, ice cream and birthday cake were served, and the birthday girl received many nice and pretty presents.

Lilac Garden Club meets

Mrs. B.W. Edward's home was the setting for the Lilac Garden Club meeting on Wednesday, October 11. Club President Mrs. Pauline Walker opened with the club creed and had a general business session.

It was most appropriate that "Leaves" was the subject of the program which Mrs. A.M. Hewitt brought assisted by Mrs. Jim Stroud who had the same subject for her Show-and-Tell.

Pumpkin pie, nuts and coffee were served to 16 members.

HELEN BOTTEL

Helen Help Us!

DEAR HELEN:

The trend is for an unwed expectant mother either to decide for an abortion or to keep her baby—and if she is a teenager, this last means most likely in the home of her parents.

From sad experience, I can tell you the grandparents suffer most when an immature girl insists on keeping her child.

Our daughter became a mother at 16. Madly in love with the father, she wouldn't hear of giving her son away. They planned to be married as soon as he had parental permission—but they split up when the baby was three months old.

We wanted Jan to finish school so baby-care fell mostly to me. She treated little John as a doll, something to show off or play with when he was good and she had nothing else to do. Weekends? I tried to make her take over, but how could I let John suffer from her neglect?

Now Jan is graduated, but the story is the same. She gets Aid to Dependent Children, pays us a little for room and board, spends the rest on herself. She's off gadding with friends or on dates, but won't seek a job "because I have a baby to care for!" Again, if I say "He's YOUR responsibility" and carry it through, it only means diaper rash, a hungry child. I can't do that to my grandson! Nor can we put them out, knowing John would suffer.

Oh yes, girls are proud of their babies these days. There's no stigma—keeping your child wins you "Brownie Points" with your peers. But an immature teenager is seldom a good mother...she's too much of a daughter herself. Abortion isn't always the answer. Often the girl becomes pregnant again out of guilt or regret—and she's doubly determined to keep her baby this time. Could not society which helps create these situations for grandparents, also try to help them?

How about putting the unwed young mother on a sort of probation? She should be closely followed by a case worker, given psychiatric help if needed, and if she doesn't assume responsibility in the home, her child should be taken from her. Why simply give her ADC assistance—and her parents all the work?

Could we hear from other "illegitimate" grandparents and how they have faced this situation? Please don't say "You should have raised her differently." It's too late for THAT—we did our best. Our daughter isn't bad—just immature.—ONE VERY DISILLUSIONED PARENT

DEAR PARENT:

Jan will remain immature as long as she has a harried nursemaid—someone she can manipulate into serving her neglected baby, as she probably worked it all those years when (am I right?) you cleaned her neglected room, ironed and mended her unkempt clothes, so that YOU wouldn't be embarrassed by a sloppy daughter.

Hindsight never helps unless you learn from it. The lesson here is in knowing yourself. Since you're the type who can't stand by (or demand action) when there's a job to be done, then LEAVE—and don't return from your vacation until you've given Jan a big taste of full-time motherhood! (Ask a friend to check occasionally on the baby's welfare, but my hunch is this won't be needed.)

When you come home, don't slip back into the "do-for" routine. Nag if you must, but let Jan understand that John is her responsibility, and if she won't care for him, he can still be taken away: legally, by his grandparents!—H.

Mrs. Chism to tour Spain

Mrs. Cleo Chism of Columbus was the winner of a trip abroad, courtesy of Field Enterprises, publisher of World Book.

Mrs. Chism left for Memphis today with Mrs. Naomi Prescott, also of Columbus, as her guest. They will fly to Chicago, then overseas to Malaga, Spain.

The trip consists of guided tours to Alcazar, Seville, Alhambra, and several villages. At Alcazar they will visit the largest medieval castle in Spain. Also included on the trip is a two day tour to Tangiers, Morocco.

Mrs. Chism is a teacher in the Saratoga Elementary school.

Golf winners are named

The Hope Women's Golf Association met Thursday for the monthly business meeting. Mrs. Al Graves served as hostess with 13 members and one guests, Mrs. Larry Vaughn, attending.

During the business session, which was presented by secretary Janice Lockett, the annual award dinner was scheduled for Thursday, Dec. 14.

Winners in the afternoon competition for a "blind partner" tournament were Mrs. Emmett Wassell and Mrs. Earl Lockett. Second place winners were Mrs. L.L. Webb and Mrs. Jim Smith.

It was reported that six of the local members participated in playday in Magnolia on Tuesday. Winners in the foursome were Mrs. Emmett Wassell and Mrs. L.L. Webb, low gross; Mrs. Earl Lockett, low net; and Mrs. Albert Bray. Also attending the playday was Mrs. John Beatty and Mrs. Cecil Delaney.

Possible 3-way tie in sight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Magnolia Coach Don Hubbard likes to look ahead, but only as far as next Friday night.

His Panthers knocked off chief rival Malvern 24-7 last Friday and with only three conference games left, Magnolia already could be looking ahead to a state playoff rematch with mighty Morrilton.

Hubbard says, however, that the playoffs aren't even in the picture yet. He said Sunday night that his sights are set only on this week's game against Hope.

Hope has lost only one conference game — that to Malvern — and if "Hope should beat us and Malvern and Hope and us win the rest of the way, there could be a three-way tie in the conference," Hubbard said in an interview.

Although happy with the victory over Malvern, Hubbard was a bit subdued because two of his starters were injured.

He said quarterback Ken Barker and defensive end Lonnie Rone may not be able to play against Hope. He said Barker injured a knee in the second quarter and was on crutches Sunday. He said Rone suffered a hip injury.

"Hope lost to Malvern by only 11-0 in the rain," Hubbard said. "People are kind of overlooking them."

Magnolia is shooting for its second straight district title. The Panthers were defeated by Morrilton last year in the semifinals of the state playoffs.

One of the keys to Magnolia's victory over Malvern, which suffered its first conference loss, was the stopping of half-back J. R. Ross, who had gained 1,000 yards in the first six games this year. Magnolia held him to 85 yards.

Hubbard said nothing special was instituted for Ross. "Our linebackers had a real good night, we had good pursuit and we did a good job of tackling," Hubbard said.

On the basis of its victory, Magnolia moved up a notch to sixth place in this week's Associated Press Arkansas high school football poll, and a Class AAAA team that was sixth dropped to seventh.

Asked if he thought Class AA teams could compete with the higher classification schools, Hubbard said: "Not week after week. Of course, we're not supposed to be able to or we'd be in one big conference. As far as taking the best AA team and playing the best AAAA team in one game, I think they would have a chance."

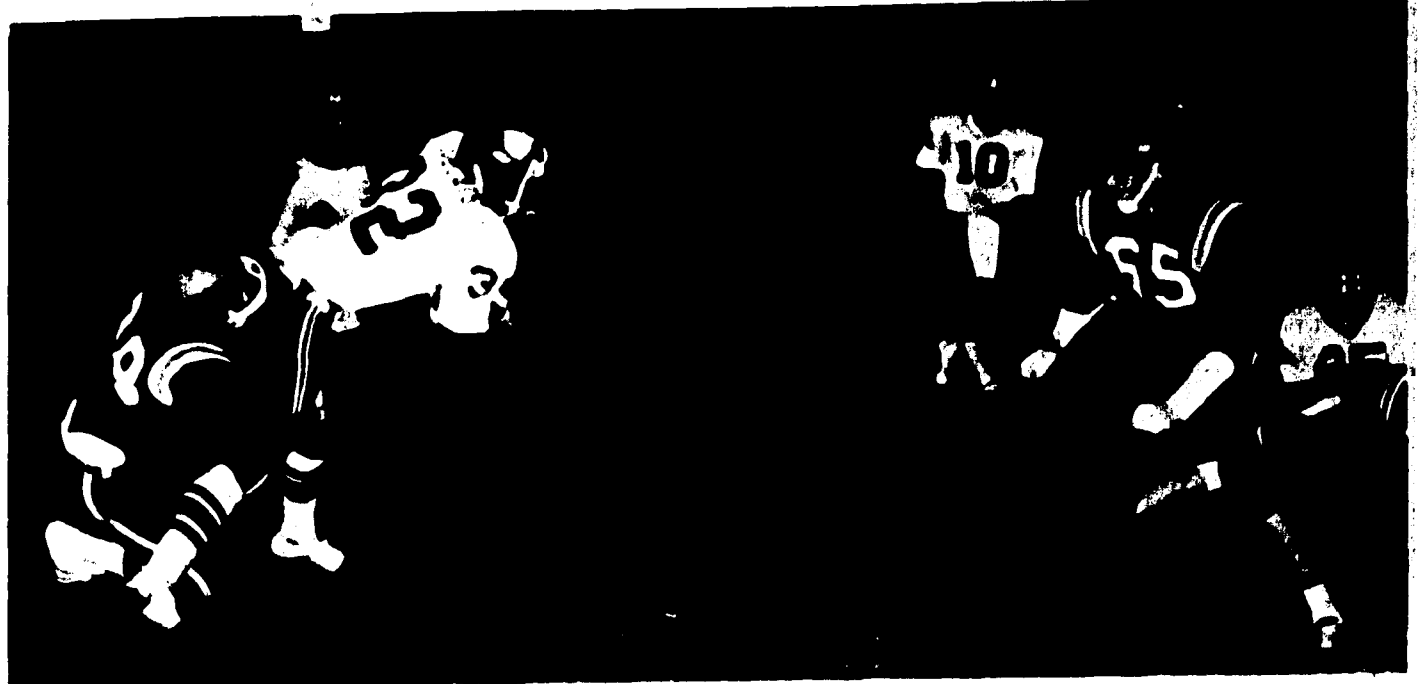

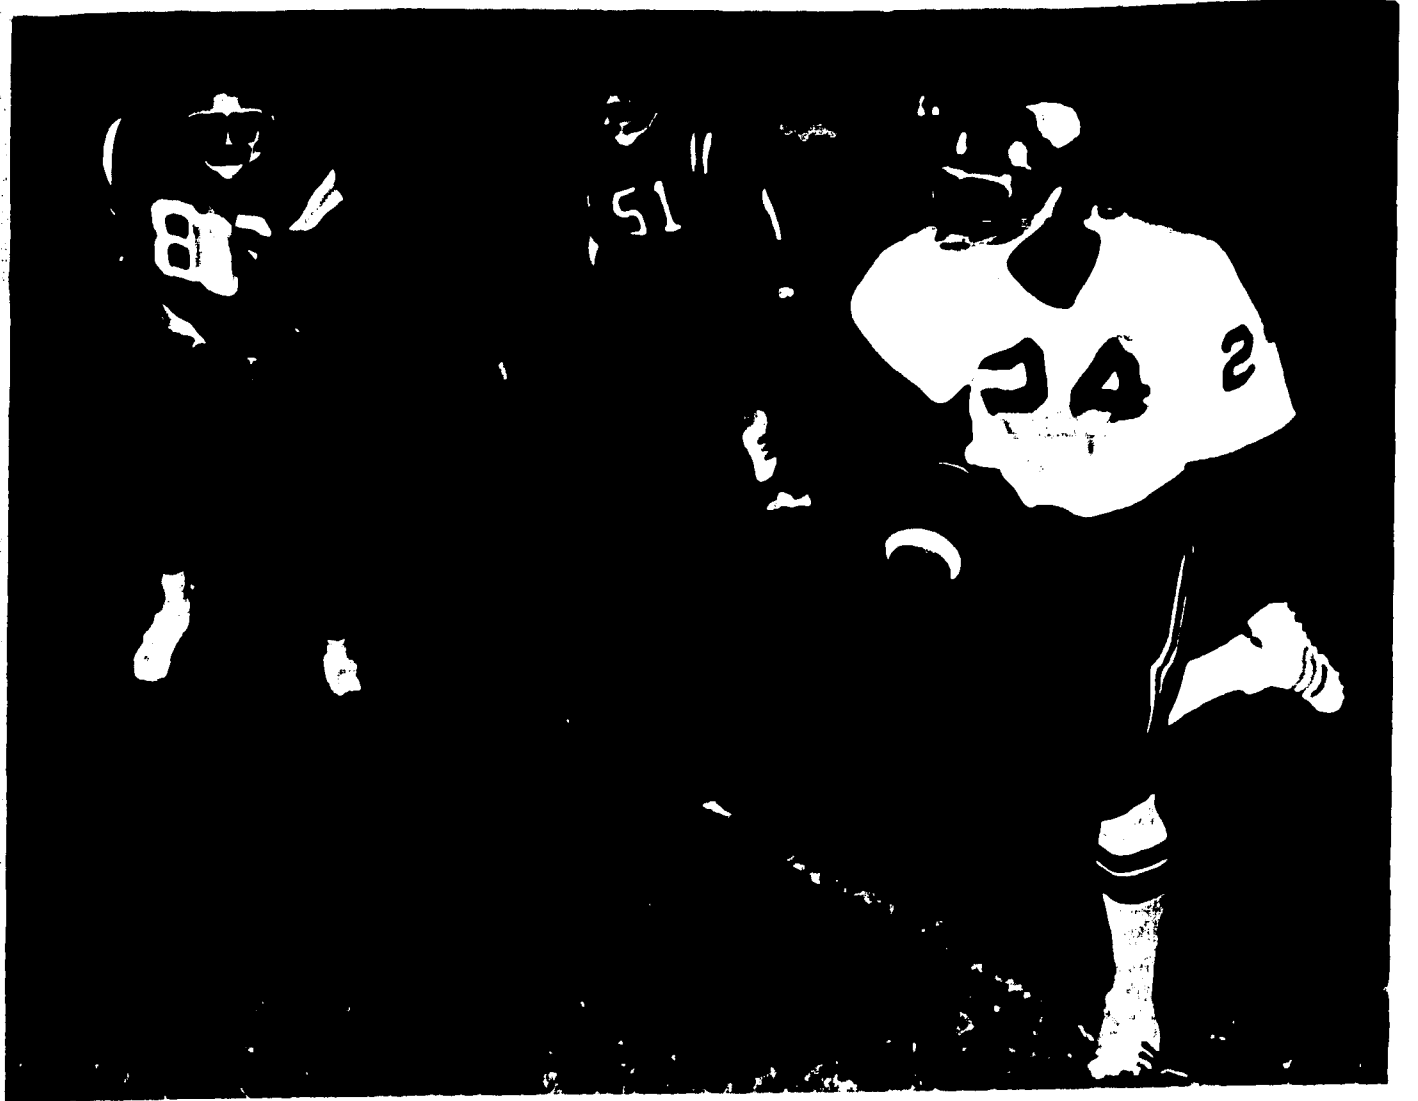

Hot Springs continues to lead the poll, and the Trojans gained a bit of breathing room over runner-up North Little Rock Ole Main. Last week, Hot Springs led by five points, but increased its lead to nine points this week.

Jonesboro, which owns a victory over Ole Main, advanced from fourth to third, and Little Rock Hall, third last week, dropped to fourth.

Then come Morrilton, Magnolia, Little Rock Catholic, Forrest City, El Dorado and Springdale.

El Dorado was unranked last week. Springdale fell from a tie for seventh to 10th after losing to Fayetteville.

Morrilton continues to head up Class AA and Magnolia is second. Sheridan replaced Malvern in the No. 3 spot.

Fishing derby opens

Area anglers get to wet hooks in crisp autumn weather this year, rather than summer's heat, in the annual Southwest Arkansas Fishing Derby.

Fishing derby dates were changed because of the heat and generally low water conditions. Fish must be caught in public bodies of water, such as lakes and running streams, in Howard, Pike, Sevier, Little River and Hempstead counties.

The derby this year features 1,000 in cash and fishing equipment as prizes for weekly and grand prize winners. As usual, area banks have contributed $100 for the Mr. Bankers Bass, going to the first black bass weighting over five pounds. The contest begins at noon Saturday, October 14, and ends November 3.

Fishermen must have a $1.00 Official Derby Ticket prior to catching fish entries.

Headquarters for the contest is the Nashville Chamber of Commerce.

Bobcats defeat Yellowjackets

By ALAN FOSTER

Last Friday night at Keith Field in Stamps, the Hope Bobcats defeated the Stamps Yellowjackets by the overwhelming margin of 47-23.

Stamps received the opening kickoff and being unable to move punted to Hopes 45. The Bobcats wasted no time as they marched 55 yards in five plays, with David Johnson going the final nine yards to paydirt. PAT by Bazar was good, and Hope held a 7-0 lead with 8:01 left in the first period.

Hope was on their way again as Teddy Price recovered a Yellowjacket fumble at the 39 of Stamps. The Cats then stalked into the end zone once more as Melvin Weston carried the last two yards and Bazar tackled on the PAT and Hope led 14-0.

Hope started the scoring in the second quarter as they went 62 yards in five plays with the final play being a Robie Boyd to Buddy Ingram pass play of 29 yards. Bazar once again split the uprights and Hope led 21-0.

Hope scored on their next possession as they received the punt at the 40 and traveled the distance in eight plays with David Huddleston running it in from ten yards out. Paul Bazar kicked his fourth extra point extending the Bobcat lead to 28-0.

Hope stalled a Stamps drive at the 34, then marched to the Yellowjacket end zone in eight plays with Melvin Weston getting his second tally of the night on a nine yard burst. The point attempt was blocked and Hope owned a 34-0 lead.

Stamps got on the board as Ronald Fluornoy broke 70 yards for a touchdown. The PAT was good and the score read Hope 34, Stamps 7.

Hope scored again on a 15 yd. TD pass from Boyd to Ricky Hart. PAT by Bazar was good and Hope had it put away as they led 41 to 7.

Charles Barber put Stamps on the board again on a five yard TD run. Stamps went for two and got it on a pass from Barber to Ronald Fluornoy to make the score 41 to 15 - Hope.

Mike Downs got his chance to run the ball as he received the kickoff and ran it seven yards to the Hope 40. Hope went the distance with Eddie Ricky Brown fighting his way in from ten yards out to give Hope a 47-15 lead.

Stamps was to score once more but to no avail. The Bobcats had their sixth win 47 to 23 over a fine 7AA Stamps team.

Next week the Bobcats travel to Magnolia in what will decide who will represent 7AA in the state playoffs.

Hogs are ready for Bears

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Baylor may have ruined its chance against Arkansas by playing so well against nonconference opponents.

In the past, the Razorbacks have had trouble getting ready for the Bears to play TCU and Texas. Not so Saturday when Arkansas triumphed 31-20.

"We were ready to play Baylor," said Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles. "Some years we've had trouble when Baylor's record didn't give us the incentive to be ready for them. That was not the case this year since they had shut out two football teams in a row from getting touchdowns."

Baylor opened with a 24-14 loss to Georgia and then beat Missouri 27-0 and Miami 10-3.

In the end Saturday, it was the Razorbacks' ball-hungry defense and a sensational catch by Mike Reppond that ruined the Bears.

Baylor, which had fared well in its first three games by avoiding killing mistakes, lost three fumbles and had four passes intercepted — two each by safety Mark Hollingsworth and cornerback Louis Campbell.

Because of turnovers and a sparkling punt return by John Moseley, the Razorbacks traveled only 24, 38, 28 and 32 yards for their four touchdowns. Dickey Morton, who had his best day as a Razorback with 157 yards rushing on 34 attempts, scored twice and Jon Richardson once. The other TD came on a 15-yard pass from Joe Ferguson to Jack Ettinger out of the wishbone.

Reppond's one-handed grab for 22 yards kept alive a late drive that ended in a 23-yard Mike Kirkland field goal that sealed the decision.

Arkansas had led 21-0 in the third quarter and 28-4 but both times Baylor defensive end Roger Goree blocked Arkansas punts that resulted in Baylor touchdowns.

Hollingsworth's first interception launched the drive that ended in the field goal and his second came in the closing seconds.

Arkansas drove 38 yards for its second touchdown following Campbell's first interception. His second theft came at the Arkansas two seconds before the half with Arkansas leading 14-0.

Campbell came through with the interception and I felt a lot better," Broyles said. "I've seen some crazy Arkansas-Baylor games."

Arkansas moved the ball extremely well in the first half but Broyles pointed out the success the Razorbacks had against TCU last week may have caused some greed Saturday.

Now with victories over TCU and Baylor, Arkansas must prepare for a trip to Austin, Tex., and a meeting with the Longhorns. Arkansas is 2-0 in the conference and Texas is 1-0.

Texas lost to Oklahoma 27-0 Saturday but as Broyles pointed out, the Longhorns made more first downs and about the same amount of yardage as the second-ranked Sooners.

Blue's golden arm pitches A's to 3-2 win in opener

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland A's were home today with a 2-0 lead in the 1972 World Series with hopes of polishing off the Cincinnati Reds with the same combination of pitching, power and fielding expertise that won the first two games.

Gene Tenace's slugging and Vida Blue's golden arm in relief won the opener of the baseball classic 3-2 in Cincinnati Saturday. And the upstart A's made it two straight Sunday with a 2-1 triumph behind Jim Hunter's right-handed brilliance and a sparkling defense.

"I'm not ready to panic yet," said Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson, whose National League team was favored to beat the American League champs. "I'm close, though."

about taking a commanding lead back to his cozy home park, but he is an uneasy front-runner in the best-of-seven series.

"We'd had some outstanding pitching, sure," said Williams. "But, heck, they've hit some balls real hard and we've had to come up with good fielding plays to stop the Reds."

Standing-room-only crowds for the first two games—including a Riverfront Stadium record 53,224 Sunday—saw the kind of baseball Williams was talking about.

They didn't have too much to cheer about, though, because the A's took an early lead on Hunter's run-scoring single in the second inning and Joe Rudi's bases-empty home run in the third off Cincinnati starter Ross Grimsley.

Hunter, the A's ace, protected that 2-0 lead until the ninth when the home team gave its fans some action. Tony Perez opened the final inning with a hard single to left center, then Denis Menke launched a tremendous drive that Rudi collared while leaping and banging into the left field wall.

Rudi clutched the baseball at the tip of his glove, supported himself and fired a bullet back into the infield. The relay almost nailed Prez, who strayed far off first.

It was plainly the play of the game, although the A's had another gem for the Oakland fans to savor when Mike Hegan, defensive replacement at first base, knocked down Cesar Geronimo's line drive for the second out of the inning.

Williams said that Rudi's was the best catch he'd ever seen in a World Series game, giving it a better rating than Willie Mays' much-publicized catch of a ball hit by Vic Wertz in the 1954 classic.

Anderson, hoping to reverse the trend, will start Jack Billingham against John "Blue Moon" Odom in the third game of the Series at the Oakland Coliseum Tuesday night. Don Gullett was named by Anderson to oppose Ken Holtzman in the fourth game. The fifth game will also be played in Oakland, if needed, and the sixth and seventh will go back to Cincinnati next weekend if necessary.

All games in Oakland start at 8:30 p.m., EDT. All will be televised nationally.

TOKYO (AP) — The world's fastest trains have fallen victim to a rat.

The rodent gnawed through an electric cable Sunday and caused a short circuit that knocked out a signal system on the superexpress route between Tokyo and Osaka.

LONDON (AP) — "Absolutely nothing" has been turned up in the search for bombs aboard 29 freighters owned by the Cunard Line after an extortion threat was made, a company spokesman said.

An unidentified extortionist demanded $14 million Thursday in exchange for information on which of the company's freighters a bomb allegedly had been planted.

The line alerted Scotland Yard and police on five continents, including the FBI.

A telephone threat was received by Cunard's London office last May 17 saying that the firm's flagship, the Queen Elizabeth 2, would be blown up unless $350,000 was paid.

No bomb was found aboard the liner and a man was arrested the next month in New York and charged with the extortion attempt.

McGovern:
Working for the underdog

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A bevy of Arkansas workers concede their man's presidential campaign is that of the underdog.

But that's a status to which Sen. George McGovern's supporters have become accustomed.

"We're the underdog," says
Mrs. Brownie Ledbetter of Little Rock, the state director of organization for the McGovern campaign. "But so was Harry Truman."

"I can remember my daddy coming home and saying:
'There's no one in Pulaski County for Harry Truman but me.' This country went for Harry Truman," she said, "and so did this state."

Mrs. Ledbetter thinks McGovern has a good chance in Arkansas. "This state has nothing to gain from a Republican administration," she said.

The McGovern gospel is being spread through a "people to people" campaign, she said.

"We're working with groups of volunteers who meet and visit entire neighborhoods at one time, calling on each home in the area. The response has been good," she said.

She says that 51 of Arkansas' 75 counties have McGovern workers, and that Pulaski County alone has nearly 300 volunteers.

Among the volunteers, she said, are old and young, day and night workers. "I think this diversity is one of the strongest things we have going," she said.

Mrs. Ledbetter works out of the Arkansas' For McGovern-Shriver Headquarters in Little Rock. Besides a county headquarters, Little Rock is also home of the Rural Arkansas' For McGovern-Shriver, an organization headed by Lewis J.

"Red" Johnson, president of the Arkansas Farmers Union.

Arkansas Labor For McGovern-Shriver works out of the main headquarters in Little Rock. Tom Landers and Herb Bingaman are co-chairmen of the McGovern labor supporters.

"One of the nicest things about this campaign is the close relationships with labor and farm groups," she said.

The labor supporters have a desk in the headquarters. "We work with them on mailouts and in our contacts in the counties. We are always in touch with 'Red' Johnson in setting up McGovern-Shriver organizations in the counties.

"They cover some counties;
we cover some counties. We work together," she said.

"Each county is organizing its own effort," she added. "We provide whatever assistance is needed from here, and we call persons in other counties about volunteering. We try to stay in touch with about every county and do what we can."

This assistance comes in the form of literature and organizational suggestions, she said.
"We exchange ideas about what is helpful to them and the state as a whole."

Finances come from a lot of small donations, many in the $1-$10 range, Mrs. Ledbetter explained. "I think a lot of people who have never contributed before are contributing to this campaign. That's ideally the way a political campaign should be financed—by a large number of small contributors.

"Our response comes from the average citizen," she said.

Bethune attacks Tucker -- again

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Ed
Bethune of Searcy, Republican candidate for attorney general, accused his Democratic opponent, Jim Guy Tucker of Little Rock, Sunday of "attempts to defraud the public about his qualifications and his record."

Bethune said Tucker sought to use a League of Women Voters' election newsletter to "mislead the voters about his qualifications and achievements." Bethune said this was "an insult to the league and an insult to all voters."

In the newsletter, which includes comments from Tucker and Bethune, Bethune said Tucker claims to be "singly responsible" for reduction of crime in the Pulaski County area. Bethune said there had been no reduction of crime during Tucker's term as prosecuting attorney and even if there had been, "it is an affront to the public that Tucker would presume to take credit."

On the list of accomplished goals carried in the newsletter, Bethune said one was Tucker's suit against the pipelines poluting the Arkansas River.

"Another of Tucker's 'accomplished goals' is his well-publicized investigation into prostitution and gambling," Bethune said.

North-South Road

Editor The Star: With reference to your editorial on unsuccessful House raid on Highway Trust Fund, the issue is quite clear. The additional federal tax on fuel according to law is to be spent on our interstate highway system; and as you pointed out this system will be needing extensive repairs as traffic increases.

The purpose of this note is to plug for an interstate highway link from New Orleans through Texarkana to Kansas City and on north possibly to Chicago or whatever route beyond Kansas City is the most needed.

If you care to glance at a late Rand-McNally map of these wonderful United States you will notice an absence of South-North interstate highway system, why I can't imagine, in the central portion of our wonderful country. Whether terrain is a factor I do not know.

I, for one think we should bring whatever pressure we can for an interstate highway through western Arkansas from a North and South basis. Sincerely,

DAVID P. DAVIS

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Extra care for nose bleeds

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I want to inquire about a recent experience I had with a nose bleed.

A few years ago in New York I was seen by a heart specialist for rapid heart beat. The following day I did some unusual things and developed a shaking sensation plus chest sweat and blacked out. An ambulance took me to the hospital. They gave me Cedanalid and Aldomet.
I was checked out of the hospital the following day. I had two doctors from India work on me and they sure went to town.

A few weeks ago I went to bed at 10:15 p.m. Suddenly I felt a pouring like water coming from my nose.
Putting my finger to the base of the nose, I noted it was very dark reddish blood.
I went to our local emergency ward in the hospital.

The blood actually poured out. Cool wash cloths were used.

The nurse supplied a half moon bandage and the doctor inserted a flat piece of bandage about 1/16 inch thick and 1/2 inch wide. I got two different injections and was put to bed with the blood pressure being checked regularly. At entry my pressure was over 200, which may have been caused by the sudden "party" with the bleeding.

The doctor okayed me and now I take things in moderation. What I want to know is if this happens again (and I hope it won't) is there some sort of treatment I can resort to before I can get help?

Dear Reader — Your nose bleed is probably related to high blood pressure. Some of the medicines you've listed are given for that.
Keeping your blood pressure down will help to prevent another episode. This is why your doctor has asked you to take things easy. Your medicines and keeping your weight down and not overdoing it physically will go a long way towards helping you.

Even with high blood pressure, the reason bleeding occurs is because of damage to the blood vessels. You may not be able to totally prevent the vessel damage but you might help minimize it by being certain that you have a proper diet and that you get plenty of vitamin C.

It sounds to me like you did all right with your last emergency. The most important thing is to stay calm while you're getting help.
Keep seated upright so that you don't strangle on any blood that might run down your throat. Also that keeps the head above the heart level which minimizes the pressure that would aggravate bleeding. A cold wet bandage over the nose is sometimes helpful. Pinching shut the end of the nose may help if the bleeding is in the tip. But if there is lots of blood it may just run down the back of your throat. A small, cold compress inside the tip of the nose will sometimes stop bleeding. Frequently with a severe nose bleed though, it will be necessary to have a doctor pack the nose. With less severe nose bleeds, some of them will stop spontaneously, but even so in an individual with your past history, I think you ought to see a doctor if such an episode occurred.

Israel makes 5 strikes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israel made five air strikes Sunday against guerrilla bases in Lebanon and Syria. A top Israeli official said they signaled a new policy of "no longer waiting for the guerrillas to hit first."

The raids were the first against the guerrillas since the Sept. 16-17 sweep into Lebanon by Israeli army units. There has been relative quiet on the borders since then, but Gen. Haim Herzog, the former intelligence chief, said in a broadcast commentary: "From now on the very presence of saboteurs" in Syria and Lebanon "is to be regarded as a provocation."

"This is the operative phase of our pledge to hit the terrorists wherever they are, and they are in Lebanon and Syria," another high-ranking military source said.

An Israeli spokesman said the targets in Lebanon were at Sinik, Dakhla and Dier el Ashayer and a guerrilla naval base at Ras el Naba south of the Litani River Delta. He said a guerrilla training camp was hit in Syria. The raiders came within 15 miles of Beirut and within 30 miles of Damascus.

The spokesman said all the planes returned safely.

Radio Damascus said the Syrian Air Force drove off the Israelis after they attacked near Misalaf, about 100 miles north of Damascus. No casualties were reported.

The rockets and bombs could be clearly heard in Beirut, and sunbathers along the Mediterranean ran for cover as the jets streaked towards their targets.

A Lebanese communiqué said two civilians were killed, 16 were wounded and two others were missing. It said anti-aircraft fire kept the planes from hitting their targets along the coast and in the western Bekaa Valley.

Meanwhile in Cairo, President Anwar Sadat told the Egyptian parliament the Palestinians and the other Arabs must unite "for the establishment of a peace based on justice."

Sadat said his recent proposal for a Palestinian government in exile was "merely an expression of an objective." Palestinian leaders rejected the proposal.

Turning to relations with Moscow, Sadat said Egypt "will continue to exert all possible effort to overcome differences with the Soviet Union."

Prime Minister Anis Sidiqi of Egypt was flying today to Moscow for his first visit since Sadat expelled the Soviet military advisers in July.

Vietnam highways unsafe due to VC

SAIGON (AP) — Two of the four major highways leading out of Saigon were reported unsafe today due to continued harassment by Communist forces. U.S. troops were advised to stay off them.

South Vietnamese police reopened a third highway but so late in the day that only a few vehicles got through before darkness closed it again.

Highway 13 was closed about 21 miles north of Saigon. Route 15, which goes to the resort town of Vung Tau, was reported open only to essential traffic along a 20-mile stretch where the enemy sprang two ambushes last week.

Highway 1, which goes to the Central Highlands, was cut by a culvert the enemy blew up four days ago. Repairs were completed today, but the road was not reopened until late in the afternoon. Meanwhile, a huge traffic jam built up.

Fighting continued in the immediate area just before the road was reopened, with South Vietnamese fighter-bombers attacking enemy positions to the north within sight of the road and troops shelling positions just to the south.

The cutting of Highway 1 stalled vegetable shipments to Saigon from the highlands. Scores of vegetable trucks were among the vehicles backed up in the traffic jam.

Action also picked up in the Central Highlands with harassing attacks on traffic on Highway 14 north and south of Pleiku, encirclement of a base by an enemy battalion and a rocket attack on Kontum airfield.

The North Vietnamese began a heavy mortar barrage on Fire Base 43, about 20 miles south of Pleiku, and the attack was continuing at dusk.

An American helicopter that landed at the base to evacuate wounded U.S. advisers was hit by mortar fire, the U.S. Command said. It reported one American crewman was killed and three crewmen and three advisers were wounded.

Red River bridge to be painted

LITTLE ROCK — Ward Goodman, director of state highways, has authorized issuance of a work order to proceed in painting and painting the structural steel and bridge railing on the Red River Bridge, State Highway 82 at Garland City.

The Red River bridge is one of the bridges selected to be painted by the Highway Department in an experiment to evaluate paint color, quality, durability, and rust-inhibiting properties. The bridge will be painted blue.

Wiscombe Southern Painting Company, Inc. was awarded the contract with a low bid of $82,400. The contract also requires work to be completed within 140 working days.

BISHOP McDONALD VISITS HERE TODAY

Bishop Andrew McDonald of Little Rock will be visiting here from Little Rock on Monday, October 16, to administer the Sacrament of Confirmation to seven children and one adult, at our Lady of Good Hope Catholic Church.

Bishop McDonald will be accompanied by Father Charles Kordomier, also of Little Rock.

Bishop McDonald is the newly-appointed Bishop of the diocese. He is a native of Savannah, Ga.

ASTRO-GRAPH

BY BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Monday, Oct. 16

YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY

This year could have some unexpected, favorable changes. New friends and interests play important roles. Inventiveness, innovation are rewarding.

ARIES (Mar 21-Apr 19): A hidden benefit holds latent promise. Recheck legal agreements to see if there's some advantage you've overlooked.

TAURUS (Apr 20-May 20): Resist temptation to procrastinate. There is something from the past that can be made more productive.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): An old acquaintance reveals some information that has speculative possibilities. Be more eager to listen than to talk.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Follow your intuitive urges regarding family affairs. If you feel changes have practical benefits, make them.

LEO (July 23-Aug 22): You express yourself best today on paper. Tackle that overdue correspondence you've neglected to answer.

VIRGO (Aug 23-Sept 22): You have a slight edge in financial matters today. The public should be receptive to what you have to sell.

LIBRA (Sept 23-Oct 23): Your intuition in most situations is particularly keen and helpful except where money is concerned. Curb the urge to spend impulsively.

SCORPIO (Oct 24-Nov 22): Don't reveal your game plan to anyone. For best results, make your changes behind the scenes.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 23-Dec 21): Someone may unexpectedly return an old favor. Friends and contacts can be most helpful today in furthering your hopes and desires.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22-Jan 19): Hard work has its rewards. Although slow in coming, past efforts could now benefit you with prestige and profit.

AQUARIUS (Jan 20-Feb 19): You might find yourself in the right spot at the right time. The opportunity could be slightly disguised. Stay alert.

PISCES (Feb 20-Mar 20): Hidden aspects are working in your favor, particularly where your career is concerned. Advancement or improved status is now likely.

CW music will honor top stars

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Country music will honor its best tonight in a televised presentation of the annual Country Music Association awards from the stage of the famed Grand Ole Opry House in Nashville.

Glen Campbell, the Delight, Ark., guitar-picker and singer, will host the show which will be televised live on CBS beginning at 10 p.m. EDT.

Loretta Lynn, nominated for awards in five categories, is the first woman to be in the running for the Entertainer of the Year award — considered the top prize in the 10 categories.

Also nominated for the top entertainer award are Merle Haggard, Freddie Hart, Country Charlie Pride and Jerry Reed. Haggard and Pride, country music's first nationally recognized black artist, are former winners of the award.

Pride is in the running in four categories as is Donna Fargo, a former school teacher and a relative newcomer to country music.

The awards are part of a week-long celebration marking the birthday of the Grand Ole Opry.

Membership into the Knights is by invitation only and it is one of the highest honors a student can receive on the UAM campus.

A lavish entertainment program has been lined up for this year's Louisiana State Fair, opening Friday, Oct. 20, at Shreveport, and running through Sunday, Oct. 29. Among the many outstanding attractions will be No. 1—The "Masters Festival of Music," with Boots Randolph, Chet Atkins and Floyd Cramer, in the Hirsch Memorial Coliseum, Oct. 25 and 26; No. 2—The Fearless Bauers and their thrilling swappole act; No. 3—The Jackson Five, with shows at 4 and 8 p.m., in the Coliseum, Oct. 27; No. 4—Mark Wilson, famed TV magician; No. 5—The sparkling Royal American Shows on the midway; No. 6—Candy Candido, the Fair's "Goodwill Ambassador," and No. 7—Billy Thundercloud and the Chieftones, a captivating quartet of Canadian Indians. The Bauers, Wilson, Candido, and Thundercloud will appear daily in "State Fair Revue of 1972," the big free grandstand show, along with Dave Merrifield, The Florida Boys and The Feller Boys and Dodo.

Campaigning becomes dull

TORONTO (AP) — If some Americans find their presidential election campaign a bit on the dull side, they have company across the border. A lot of Canadians consider their campaign for the Oct. 30 national election about as exciting as boardroom hash.

There are lots of issues and the issues are important. How Canadians assess blame for the array of things they gripe about will determine the sort of government they will have. But a tour across Canada convinces a detached observer of a fairly large element of boredom.

Now and again there is a spicy nugget, such as the fuss whether Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau is given to earthy Anglo-Saxonisms.

Language as such is an issue: How much French should be required in the functioning of the federal government? But some say a bigger issue is Trudeau's language. His detractors say the prime minister uses three languages fluently: English, French and foul.

Trudeau, standard-bearer of the Liberal party, is reputed to be sometimes a bit less than delicate in moments of stress. On one occasion in the House of Commons and another during a street demonstration in Vancouver he mouthed what was widely spread as an obscenity. His aides now say it wasn't. They claim he merely said "Oh, fiddle-diddle!"

Real issues, however, are unemployment, soaring prices, taxes, farmers' gripes, environment, foreign ownership of industry and raw materials, and the whole question of insuring that Canada will stay together in the future as a federal whole. Foreign policy does not figure prominently the campaign.

The dullness is traceable to several factors. Many seem to think Trudeau's Liberals can't lose and the only question is whether they win enough House of Commons seats to form another majority government. Also, Trudeau in this campaign is less the skyrocket personality he was when he burst on the scene in 1968. His Conservative opponent, Robert L. Stanfield, hardly adds to the excitement. For many people, he comes over as dry as last week's breakfast toast.

Candidates for the House seem to talk around issues rather than about them, as if trying to be foggy so as to keep a safe distance from saying anything that might be politically explosive later on. The issues can be two-edged swords.

Despite all the griping among Canadians, a visitor gets the notion they never really had it so good—even the unemployed. The real irritation is among the middle-income group and it is there the Conservatives are concentrating their campaign artillery.

A lot of irritation is generated by the job issue. There were 686,000 jobless in January and the figure hovers around 600,000 in fall, but the winter industrial slack is yet to begin. Statistics Canada, an agency that keeps tabs on the economy, says that the unemployment rate was 7.1 per cent of the labor force in September, highest since 1961.

Here's what a freight surcharge looks like to a housewife.

If Act 1 isn't passed, Arkansas housewives will start helping to pay the salaries of the extra train crew members that are only required in our state. Why? Because the railroads are going to pass the unnecessary costs of the wasteful Train Crew Laws on to Arkansas' people with special shipping costs. These charges will be reflected in higher prices, lower salaries, or perhaps fewer jobs. You'll meet the surcharge in person at the grocery store. Let's pass Act 1 and do what we can to combat rising prices. And also keep Arkansas companies competitive with those in other states.

49 out of 50 states can't be wrong. Vote FOR Act 1.

Natural food book for enthusiasts

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Still more books about so-called natural foods. This one is entitled "A Natural Foods Primer" and is for the newcomer to the "natural" way of eating. It is written by an enthusiast, maybe an over-enthusiast, who distrusts most commercial food products.

She is Beatrice Trum Hunter, author of "Consumer Beware—Your Food and What's Been Done to It" and other books of similar purpose. She gives lectures and food demonstrations, particularly on whole grain bread-baking. She has a master's degree from Columbia and lives in New Hampshire with her husband. They have their own stone grinding mill.

Natural food to her means "there will be no added preservative, color, flavor, antioxidant, emulsifier, extender, bleach, or any of the other additives now being used in food processing, and does not contain any residue of pesticide, hormone, antibiotic, drug or serum that is now commonly used in food production."

"You will discover, or rediscover, the good taste of foods when eaten in their natural state and free of chemicals," she claims. "Taste a vine-ripened tomato and you will never again buy the boxed unripe green ones that are merely gassed to redness," she writes in her "Natural Foods Primer" (Simon and Schuster).

Admitting that most people today enjoy many snacks, she recommends open-faced sandwiches of beef, chicken, turkey, eggs, tuna, salmon, sardines or liver paste. But she warns sternly against relishes, pickles, olives, mayonnaise and potato chips—all goodies most of us regard as integral parts of normal snacks.

Even Mrs. Hunter admits that she does buy some "natural" foods in our all-American supermarkets. Sometimes. But she sticks to fresh meats, frozen breaded fish sticks and is against margarine and processed cheeses.

What does the confirmed "natural" foods enthusiast eat when he has to dine in a restaurant?

Mrs. Hunter says, "Patronize medium-priced places. They usually have 'specials' which are likely to be fresh. But avoid croquettes, meat loaves and casseroles. Seafood restaurants are good choices, too. They serve fresh seafoods cooked to order, plus large salads. In any place, if possible, order a la carte. Avoid soups that are usually over-salted and thickened. Avoid ready-made salad dressings. Use oil and vinegar instead."

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Oswald: "Jeff Rubens of New York has been a great bridge theorist for many years. He finally showed his ability as a player when his team won the Spingold Cup this year so that his new book, 'The Secrets of Winning Bridge,' is rather timely."

Jim: "He is a duplicate player rather than a rubber bridge player. As would be expected, his section on duplicate is very good. His chapters on rubber bridge are not up to that standard."

Oswald: "East's three-club bid is a typical non-vulnerable match point preempt. Jeff recommends South's jump to four spades, as do we. You can't play your partner for a blank hand in these situations."

Jim: "Jeff neither recommends nor disapproves of West's five-club bid. This time it works well as North bids a doubtful five spades."

Oswald: "The important bit of advice comes next. Rubens points out that West expects to beat five spades, but there is no point in a double. If West does beat five spades he is sure of a mighty good score. A double would gain maybe half a match point."

Jim: "While it really does not change any of Jeff's points, it turns out that four spades will be beaten if West leads a diamond when he gets in with the king of spades and the subsequent defense doesn't slip at all."

Coming: The Naked Ape

HEY, FELLOWS! Johnny Crawford greets cameramen during filming of "The Naked Ape," at Chicago's Civic Center.

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — When I heard that somebody had bought Desmond Morris' fascinating book "The Naked Ape," for a movie, I figured the purchaser was looney. It couldn't be made into a film. It was a book of ideas not a story. It was about as cinematic as the Sears Roebuck catalogue.

I have just talked to that looney, a slim, bright-eyed man named Donald Driver and maybe he's done it. Anyhow, the filming is finished, the post-production work is well underway and it will be out sometime next year — after three years of work.

"It's a unique film," he says, "and I don't mean that as praise, but as fact — nothing like it has ever been done before. I have no idea how it will go, who its audience is, what the reaction to it will be."

What makes it unique is that it is, in Driver's word, "a multi-media movie." It uses live action (with Victoria Principal, Johnny Crawford and Dennis Oliveri), animation, art, architecture, music and maybe even the kitchen sink.

The finished picture is meant to be funny, a commentary on man and his world. But Driver isn't sure the public will get the joke. Maybe they'll take it all seriously. That's something he'll have to wait and see.

Driver says he first saw the book when it was printed in Life Magazine, before it came out in hard covers. And he immediately visualized it as a movie and bought it. That's remarkable in itself because he'd never made a movie before.

Vadis," which will open on Broadway in the spring.

He likes the film medium — he says it's a "gentleman's medium," because you only work from nine to five, where with the stage you go 15 hours or so a day while preparing a play to open.

"There's another difference," he says. "In the theater, the people you meet are unpleasant, but honest. In the movies, everybody is charming, but they're all crooks."

ELEGANCE ON THE BOOB TUBE

"I'm trying to bring a little elegance back to television," said Laurence Luckinbill. "There's no Cary Grant on the home screen."

He was in his dressing room, picking out the wardrobe he'd wear in the next scene. He went through a selection of suits, ties, shirts, socks, even belts, to get a coordinated outfit that satisfied him.

So, when you see Larry in The Delphi Bureau, part of ABC's new series called The Men, make note of his clothes. You won't see their like on any other show, not even Gunsmoke.

"I'm not a dandy," he says, "but I do like clothes. And I do like a nice car, things like that. That's me, and I think it should also be the character I play on TV. We both have good taste."

He thinks he and Glenn Garth Gregory, the name of the character he plays, are pretty much alike.

"He's really a great deal like me," Luckinbill says. "Confronted with a violent situation, my first reaction is to run away — and Glenn Garth is the same."

Luckinbill, besides acting, is a successful writer and his dream is eventually to divvy up his life, 50-50, between acting and writing. At the moment, he's working on a script for his own show. He bought a book and is writing a screenplay based on it; he's involved in a non-fiction book about actors, which will probably take another three years to finish.

He's been published often in magazines and has had to turn down assignments—Cosmopolitan wanted him to profile Raquel Welch — because he just hasn't any time for that these days.

Right now he is concerned mostly with the series. He naturally wants it to be a huge hit.

"I consider myself venal," he says, "and like everybody else I'm in it for the money. I want this series to succeed."

It's an elegant thought. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Political Candidates

The Star has been authorized to announce the following are candidates for public office subject to action of the General Election, Nov. 7, 1972:

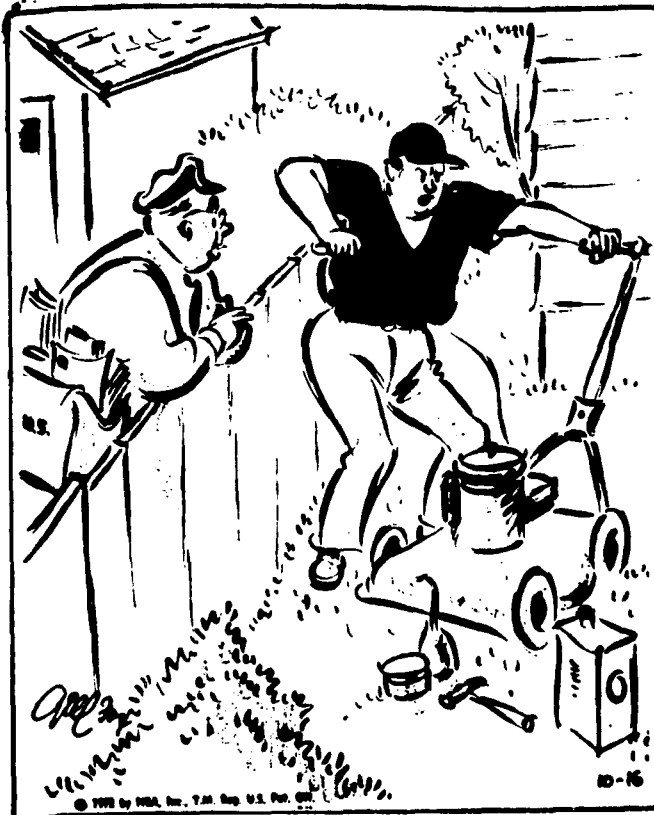

For Representative
LARRY S. PATTERSON
MRS. JERRI PRUDEN

For God so loved the world that he gave his only Son, that whoever believes in him should not perish but have eternal life.—John 3:16.

Unless there's a rebirth of religious spirit in the hearts of its leaders and in people throughout the world, our civilization, despite tremendous victories, will slide into an abyss—perhaps for centuries.—Dorothy Thompson, American journalist, author.

State's first ski slope to open in Ozarks

DOGPATCH—Snow and ice will come early to Arkansas this year, as this state's first — and only — winter sports resort presses toward completion. Workmen at the Marble Falls Estates this week completed clearing and grading of three new snow ski slopes. Meanwhile others laid ice-making equipment in the floor of a new rink, raised an imposing convention center dome, and worked on structures atop the mountain on which the Marble Falls park is situated.

The resort's 1,500-foot main ski run and two 55-foot beginner's slopes will be ready for the beginning of the skiing season Dec. 15. A three-story Alpine-style ski lodge overlooking the slopes is scheduled for completion Dec. 1, while an indoor ice skating rink for year-round skating will be finished in late October. Designed to attract meetings and groups of all sizes, the complex includes a large convention center and motel. Construction of the first 64 motel units is underway, and scheduled to be completed in December. In January a second 64 units, swimming pool and reception area will be begun. The 17,000 square foot convention center is set for completion Jan. 15. About $5 million is expected to be invested in the Marble Falls development during its first three years. Overlooking Dogpatch U.S.A. theme park, the Marble Falls development is headed by Little Rock entrepreneur Jess P. Odum. Marble Falls Estates encompasses 720 acres lying across scenic Ozarks terrain. Privately owned estates will be developed on land surrounding the convention center-resort complex. An initial area containing 28 plots has been readied for development. Alpine Chalets for rent, lease or purchase are now under construction overlooking the ski slopes, with completion planned before the December 15 opening date. The scenic beauty of the surrounding Ozarks has been utilized to the utmost in planning of the resort. From the elevation of 1,945 feet above sea level, the three-story ski lodge will dominate the Marble Falls complex. Its steeply sloping Alpine roof-walls, glass-enclosed "A" frame and balconies will overlook ski slopes, the convention center and miles of breathtaking Ozark scenery.

TV rappings:

Hec and Kung Fu

NEW YORK (AP) — Two new television Westerns are well worth inspecting this year, but you'd better have a friend addicted to checking program listings. The shows aren't weekly events.

The only thing one can safely say about "Hec Ramsey" and "Kung Fu" is that the former appears once or twice a month on Sunday at NBC and the latter once a month on Saturday at ABC.

The networks say four "Ramsey" and three "Kung Fu" episodes are finished. But ABC says no decision has been made yet on Fu's future. NBC is waiting to see if "Ramsey" star Richard Boone wants to do more shows and if the ratings warrant it.

The indecision is maddening because both shows are pretty good.

"Kung Fu" checked in last Saturday night. It starred David Carradine as a wandering Western mystic who carries a week's supply of profundity but no pistol.

Carradine is "Caine" — Kwau Chang Caine, a half-Chinese, half-American graduate of a Chinese school where kung-fu is taught. Kung-fu is a blend of philosophy, judo and karate. The students are told never to use it except for peace of mind or dire emergency.

Caine has come West with a price on his head — $10,000 alive, $5,000 dead. The bounty was posted by a Chinese emperor angered because Caine had to kill a royal nephew in self-defense.

He meets a young boy whose father has been slain by marauding Indians who also carried off his mother. Caine and boy run into baddies on the trail who suspect they are carrying cash.

Threats ensue. Caine could kung-fu them, but a film flashback brings the advice of the headmaster of his old school: "The supple bough does not contend against the storm, yet it survives."

And so forth. It sounds just awful, but the show has a stately, stilted Oriental charm about it that works if the viewer is willing to accept the mystic spirit.

"Hec Ramsey," which aired Oct. 8 and returns Oct. 29, features Boone as a sardonic, shaggy 1901-model lawman moving from the code of the Old West to scientific detection in New Prospect, Okla.

His intuition and a primitive crime lab help solve a stock detective saga about the apparent suicide — it really was murder — of a poor rancher believed to have killed his wife.

The plot was routine, but the dialogue better-than-average. And Boone, who could put life into a reading of the Dow-Jones report, had good support from colleagues cast in stock roles.

About the only real gripe one could find with "Hec Ramsey" and "Kung Fu" is that both had young, pretty widows to tenderize the proceedings.

Young, pretty widows are a glut on the Western market and should be replaced with guitars or something.

People in the News

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eleanor McGovern will be back on the campaign trail again Tuesday after a weekend in the hospital.

The wife of Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern was released from Washington's Georgetown University hospital Sunday after doctors said she had fully recovered from an attack of abdominal pains.

"Any wife in a presidential campaign deserves a weekend in bed now and then," Mrs. McGovern quipped as she left the facility.

Hospitalized last Thursday night, she said she had spent part of her time in the hospital working on a speech she is to deliver at a dinner in her honor at Woonsocket, S.D., Tuesday night.

BELGRADE (AP) — The Yugoslav government says Queen Elizabeth II of Britain and her husband Prince Philip will arrive Tuesday for a state visit which will last through Saturday.

Princess Anne will accompany her parents on the visit, being made at the invitation of President Tito, the government said Sunday.

It will be the first visit of a reigning British monarch to a Communist country.

REMSBURG, N.Y. (AP) — British-born writer P.G. Wodehouse and his wife of 58 years, Ethel, have celebrated his 91st birthday with a small group of friends at their Long Island home.

Helen Wodehouse, a sister-in-law, said the author is in generally good health and has recovered from a fall about three weeks ago.

Goodman blasts failure

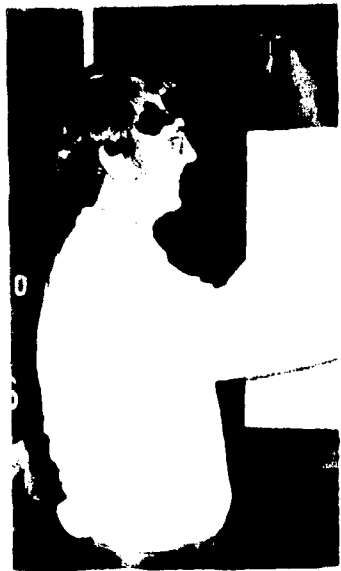

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Highway Director Ward Goodman said Sunday that failure by Congress to adopt the multi-million-dollar highway bill would have a "disastrous" effect on Arkansas' highway program.

The director said that without more federal funds the state would have to curtail its building program seriously. He declined to say which road projects would be affected.

John Harsh of Magnolia, chairman of the state Highway Commission, said the commission had many requests for new projects but without federal funds very little new construction could be started next year.

Harsh said the commission was working on a bond issue proposal and that lack of congressional action could affect the amount that the commission will seek approval on.

The original U. S. House bill would have provided $24.7 million for highway construction in Arkansas in both 1974 and 1975.

PAUL HENLEY

IS SPEAKER—Paul Henley, director of Hope Parks and Recreation Department, was the guest speaker last week (Thursday) at the Hope Optimist Club.

Henley reported on the improvements planned for Fair Park. New tennis courts, a multiple-use court will be constructed, and a new bath house at the swimming pool is in the planning stages, he said.
